Profit-taking Blocks Advance of Industrials and Rails

OPTIMISM SHOWN BY BUSINESS REPORTS

Go Long Way To Prove Recent Smash Not Justified by Conditions

SET NEW HIGH MARKS

Bulls and Bears Clash in Number of Speculative Favorites

BY W. S. COUSINS
Marion Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 4.—After reaching a high of 100 in an active and aggressive market today, the leading industrial and railroad stocks went to new high marks today. The market was characterized by profit-taking and short-selling, which effectively blocked the way to a further advance. Though the pinch in the money market by no means proved, call money was freely loaned at 7 per cent and time money at 8 1/2 per cent, while interest and business reports of the very best kind filtered into Wall Street.

These trade reports went a long way to show that the recent smash in important stocks like the metals and copper was not justified by conditions in the industries; that while motor stocks were slipping away in a temporary condition, the manufacturing companies behind them were setting up new high records both for production and marketing of cars. The result was a further rally in Chrysler, Nash, General Motors and other stocks which have been under selling pressure, current prices showing recoveries of from 6 to 9 points over last week's low.

The bulls and bears clashed in a number of the speculative favorites as Radio, General Motors, Montgomery Ward and American Can, generally at the expense of the bears. Radio was pushed up 4 1/2 points to 39. Reckitt Aviation, a newcomer, sailed along 6 points to 93 1/2, completing a 10-point gain on the present move and American Can demonstrated that it was unsafe ground for the bears.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion markets saw the addition of several new items of seasonal fruit to its list today, and a general downward trend of greenstuffs and early items formerly selling at premium prices.

Dewberries, coming from South Carolina, were selling at 30 cents a quart today, while sour cherries were priced at 20 cents. These are new items on this year's list, and will be in demand during the summer months.

Seedless grapefruit is practically the only variety now sold on Marion markets in quantities, grocers say, the seed bearing variety becoming too sprouty for practical use. Large size grapefruit can now be purchased two for 25 cents, entirely seedless. The season for the other varieties will open in early September, grocers say.

Leaf lettuce formerly selling at 15 cents was selling at 12 1/2 cents a pound today. Watermelons dropped from their former price of $1 for all melons, to a range of 75 cents to $1 each. Cantaloupes now range between 20 and 25 cents each. New turnips and new beets, formerly selling at 10 cents a bunch, can be purchased two bunches for 15 cents.

Leeks, a long heavy stalk turned used in place of onion in soups, is now available at five cents a stalk.

Today's Review of Yesterday's Grain

CHICAGO, June 4.—Farm relief plans as disclosed over the week-end in press dispatches from Washington boosted local grain prices sharply yesterday. The opening was one of the wildest in years. Wheat led the advance, showing at the top gains of as much as 5 1/2c over Saturday's close. Buying orders were plentiful and holders showed little disposition to sell until the market steadied. Profit taking caused some reaction, but there was a firm tone at the close.

Wheat prices recorded net gains for the day of 5 1/4@5 1/2c. Corn was 4 1/4@4 1/2c higher; oats 1 1/2@1 3/4c up; and rye 3 1/4@3 1/2c better. Winnipeg market was closed for a holiday. Liverpool was strong, closing 1 1/2@2 1/4 higher.

Three Bullish Items

Plans of the administration for farm relief, as set forth in the Washington dispatches, contain three strongly bullish items: The probable enactment of farm relief measures within ten days; the formation of a $100,000,000 wheat stabilization corporation and proposed steps to reduce production. While receiving less attention than the other sensational reports, the latter was the most bullish and is the first proposal to strike at the root of the farm problem.

While the lack of confirmation of the Washington news caused considerable discussion, and suspicion, it had little effect on the market. None of the general run of the day's news had any effect on the market, nor did even the private crop estimates of the local experts.

The latter averaged 632,000,000 bu for winter wheat yield, about as expected, though 13,000,000 bu above the estimates a month ago and 27,000,000 bu above the government May figure. Average on spring wheat was 252,000,000 bu, the same as the private reports a year ago, but 72,000,000 less than the yield a year ago.

Little was heard of export news because of the domestic visible stocks was undoubtedly due to the reappearance of some of the wheat which has been under shipment east because of reduced freight rates. Weekly statistics showed disappearance of wheat still running well ahead of a year ago.

Other Grain Rise

Corn, oats and rye advanced sharply in sympathy with wheat and the plans for relieving the acute situation in wheat. Corn at the top was up 6c; oats, 3 1/2c and rye around 5c.

There was some local pressure on corn later, which caused a setback and there was selling for profits, but the market had a relatively firm tone and made further advances. Crop reports in their estimates on other grains stressed the favorable conditions which have prevailed this year for corn. Cash corn was in active demand and the market ruled strong. Private crop experts estimate corn

U. S. HAS CAR FOR EVERY FIVE PERSONS

Nearly Every Family Equipped with Motor Vehicle, Figures Show

NEW YORK June 4.—There is about one motor vehicle to each five persons or the average American family statistics of the industry recently released by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show.

Wealth without doubt is centered in cities but whether residents of the great cities are wealthier than their country cousins becomes doubtful when figures of the motor industry are scanned. New York has appropriated money for new bridges and for elevated motor roads. Chicago tries to solve the traffic jams of the Loop, giving the average American the idea that most automobiles and trucks are located in cities.

In Rural Sections—As a matter of fact 28 per cent of all automobiles and 24 per cent of all trucks, the largest percentages in the various divisions of population are found in towns and rural sections of less than 1,000 persons. Cities over 500,000 stand second but only 11 per cent of the automobiles and 14 per cent of the trucks are centered in them.

Although the American dollar has increased in value and prosperity continues, installment buying, retained its popularity in 1928 statistics show. According to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce the automobile dollars of 1911 was worth at the end of 1928 $1.13. Shifting from hard cash to farm products in terms of their buying power it is interesting to note what the farmer in terms of grain or livestock paid for his automobile in 1911 as compared to 1928. The amount of produce necessary to buy an automobile in each period is shown in the following table:

Product	1911	1928
Cotton bales	20 1/2	10 1/2
Corn bu.	2 442	1 111
Wheat bu.	1 712	9 40
Wool lbs.	6 500	2 550
Cattle lbs.	22 40	10 250
Hogs lbs.	18 000	11 210

Despite the increased purchasing power of the dollar and of farm products 78 per cent of all new cars and 80 per cent of used cars were bought on time.

27,000 killed—Twenty-seven thousand persons were killed by automobiles or in automobiles last year, an increase of 2,600 over 1927. However, comparing the number of fatalities to the number of persons owning cars, fatalities have been reduced since 1917. Of every 10,000 automobile owners there were 175 persons killed in 1917. In 1928 the figure showed a decrease to 102 per hundred thousand but an increase over 1917 and 1927 when they were only 89 and 97 fatalities respectively for each 100,000.

The comfortable closed car continues to grow in popularity. In 1910 only ten per cent of all automobiles were of the closed type. In 1928 eighty-nine per cent were closed cars. The automobile industry produced 438,748 cars in the United States last year, employed 4,441,000 persons almost one person for every car manufactured. The actual manufacture of motor vehicles is limited to nine states: Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Connecticut, New York, Wisconsin, Virginia and Delaware.

Still Blows Up and Sets Apartment Afire—NEW YORK—Still another still blows up, this time in the Chamber apartment at 244 East 121st st.

It was a ten-cylinder still and the explosion set fire to the apartment. After the firemen had done their stuff and the police looked things over and found another 25 gallon still that had gotten to explode as well as a twenty-five gallon barrel of whiskey and three 50-gallon barrels of alcohol—but they didn't find the still. They are still looking for him.

Mother Is Jailed on Petty Larceny Charge—NEW YORK—Mrs. Ella Lebe is thirty-six years old and lives on the West 111th street in the Bronx. She has six weeks old baby in her arms.

Mrs. Lebe is the mother of seven and was charged with a petty larceny charge. Several storekeepers claim that she gave them checks for which there were no funds.

Circus Yields Sum for Local Grotes, Officer Reports

Despite the inclement weather and antics of other organizations in the city, the Circus yielded a neat sum on the Correll circus last night and yesterday afternoon. It is William Lamson, monarch of the Grotes, reported this morning in the afternoon 78 children, four matrons and one man from the Marion County Children's home 10 children from the Detention home, Addison Bain and a matron, eight women from the Wadell Ladies Home and 10 men from the Marion County Home were guests of the grotes and circus.

The success of the circus has warranted continuing the custom annually. Mr. William Lamson said this morning that he wished to extend his appreciation to all those who in any way helped in making the circus a successful project of the grotes. Receipts from the circus will go to the grotes treasury or into the building fund.

The troupe left last night for Akron. Some time in October the annual grotes ceremony will be held in Marion. A regular meeting will be held tonight in Masonic Temple.

Father of Marion Girl Seeks To Set Aside Her Marriage

DISCUSS ENCAMPMENT

Plans and arrangements for the annual encampment of veterans of the Civil War at Lindley the week of June 16 were the main part of a meeting of Cooper Post No. 117 G. A. Yesterday remained cool, the highest temperature being recorded at 60 or five degrees lower than a year ago.

Last night's low did not go lower than 42 although a light frost was predicted. This is two degrees warmer than Sunday night but six degrees cooler than a year ago.

New York City reports that sales of Lindbergh souvenirs, such as miniatures of his plane, have dropped off markedly since his marriage. Who knows? The time may yet come when he will be able to enjoy just a trifle more privacy than a gold fish.

A prominent business woman of San Diego told New York City reporters that Tin Juana, just across the border, is viewed more leniently in her home city since San Diego business people had discovered that the Mexican town's gambling places, saloons and races were attracting visitors from the North and proving a regular gold mine for commercial San Diego. There's the explanation. A lot of convictions are being stuffed the country over as the result of the widespread hankering after the coin.

Port Privileges Curtailed.

As an aftermath to the cases of Congressman Morgan, of this state, and Congressman Michaelson, of Illinois, the "courtesy of the port" privileges and many other abuses of the principles of Americanism have been swept fairly restricted by the treasury department. Hereafter courtesies of the port will be extended only to members of congress, diplomats, consular agents and other government officials traveling on official business. Both the congressman mentioned were exonerated, if our recollection serves us correctly, but the treasury department has taken steps to see that neither they nor any other congressmen "do it again."

Not only is the practice of eliminating the examination of the baggage of certain favored ones to be greatly curtailed, but also the giving out of I. A. checks—checks providing for the immediate examination of baggage so marked—is to be cut down appreciably in the future.

"Upon the arrival of some ships," Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman is quoted in a Washington dispatch as saying, "it was found that as many as one-third of the whole list of passengers were expedited through customs on such orders. This practice was un-American and unfair to other passengers. It also tended to laxity in the examination of the baggage of persons holding the expedite orders."

The announcement of the assistant secretary goes on to say that hereafter only the collector or the assistant collector of each American port will be empowered to issue orders to expedite baggage examination, and that they will do so only on "specific instructions" from the treasury department in Washington or in emergencies "such as a passenger seriously ill or injured, or a passenger summoned home by news of affliction or disaster." The closing paragraph of the announcement reads: "The new order is intended to establish a practice that will treat everybody alike."

The new order, which unquestionably was brought about by repeated abuses of courtesies extended culminating in the cases of the two congressmen, should have been issued long since. It has long been the practice of many travelers given to snobbery and the exaltation of their self-assumed importance to secure by one means or another port privileges to which they were in no way entitled, such privileges as courtesies of the port, freedom of the port, baggage validation, immediate examination, while often many travelers of far more worth and importance went through the tiresome regular course of dock procedure. The practice was unjust to the general passenger list, unjust to the line patronized and, as the assistant treasury secretary puts it, utterly un-American.

It is going to add decidedly to the pleasure of the average ocean traveler when he is no longer the victim of discrimination as a result of the favoritism shown to others.

Too Many Undesirables as It Is.

Long experience has proved that it is not an easy proposition to amend the constitution of the United States. Since the founding of our government almost 1,400 proposals have been made in congress looking to its amendment, and but nineteen of them have resulted in changes in our basic law.

It is well that it is a matter of extreme difficulty to change what is generally recognized as the most splendid achievement of its kind of all history; the greatest bulwark extant of the liberties of a free people. We may be glad that the way to its amendment is tortuous and the obstacles to be overcome many. Were it otherwise, it would today be scarcely recognizable as the great document handed down by our forefathers, who surely must have been inspired in its conception. Had it been easy of amendment, it would today be typical of every passing whim, fad and prejudice.

We are led to these observations by the proposal of Congressman Anthony J. Griffin, of New York, that the constitution be changed to fit the case of Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, the Hungarian radical and pacifist, held by the federal supreme court to be unfit for citizenship for the reason that her admitted lack of nationalistic sense and her boasted "uncompromising pacifism" make her "unable to be incapable of that attachment for and devotion to the principles of our constitution that is required of aliens seeking naturalization." Congressman Griffin would have the constitution so changed that no person otherwise qualified should be denied citizenship because of his or her personal opinion "with respect to the lawfulness of war as a means of settling international disputes."

We hardly believe that the sober sense of congress will permit it to run along with the mind of the New York congressman in this regard. We believe that there is a growing feeling in this country that we already have too many citizens who are pacifists, internationalists, people without sense of nationalism; too many who think more of almost any country than they do of their own and who labor to promote the welfare and interests of other lands at the expense and to the detriment of the land in which they claim the right of citizenship only to do all in their power to embarrass its government and plot against the success of its policies.

It may be said that, when a great people change the basic law of their land to fit the case of one who is not one of them, that case of one who is in a very bad way and their government is not long to endure.

And there is a further angle to the proposal of Congressman Griffin. While the admission of Mme. Schwimmer to United States citizenship might work no harm in her particular case, the harm it might work in encouraging other objectionable aliens to seek admission, and possibly secure it, would simply be beyond conception. The proposal of the New York congressman, were it to become engrafted into the constitution, would let down the bars to practically every enemy of government unless a crime record could be fixed upon him. We have too many undesirable, native-born as well as alien, among us as it is.

The editor of the Red Flag, the communist paper of Berlin, has been sentenced to jail for a year as a traitor to Germany. There are some matters in which we over here might profitably emulate the great majority of the Germans, not the least of them being loyalty to their country.

Raffaello Matellari, a New York seaman, has reached Russia in an attempt to beat the around-the-world record, and Charles Olsen, a New York race driver, will start June 10 with the same intent. It either wins out it will not be hard to guess one of the "features" of the coming vaudeville season.

The mail carriers of Paris are threatening to strike for $36 a month, which is about six dollars more than their present monthly minimum pay. Here we have another example of the difference in the return for labor in the Old world and here at home in America.

Washington announces that the initial issue of the new smaller currency is to be made July 10, which means that the time is near at hand when the most beautiful bills ever printed—the yellow-backed gold certificates—will be no more.

There is this to be said for the recent Labor victory in Great Britain, with Ramsay MacDonald the head of the cabinet the British reds will get just about as much of a look-in as they have under Stanley Baldwin. It will be a Labor government, not a bolshevik.

The navigating officer of the President Harding, having reported a giant meteor at sea on that vessel's last westward trip which made the night as bright as day at the noon hour, it will be just like somebody to call attention to the fact that it was that illner's first trip as a wet slip.

Belgium has listed the "home" garrisons to which the Belgian units in the Rhineland will be assigned in the event of an early evacuation of German territory. Evidently Belgium looks on evacuation far more complacently than does France. It's getting out of the Rhineland which proved one of the chief obstacles in the way of French accord in the reparations plan.

It is a significant fact that each of the leaders in the recent British campaign—Ramsay MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin and David Lloyd George—was elected to the house of commons, as were the daughter of Lloyd George and a son of each of the other two of the trio. Evidently ability is recognized in British politics and there is some appreciation over there also of the possibility that virtues may be inherited.

WEEDING TIME AND ELBOW-GREASE.

Antitoxin and Diphtheria.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
 On April 21, 1901, the first newspaper was printed in Boston—the Boston News-Letter. In these 225 years much progress has been made in every field of endeavor.

I speak of the newspapers today because of their attitude towards health. Through the medium of the press, publicity is given all health measures. There is no excuse for any one being uninformed concerning these regulations.

At this time there happens to be much publicity and propaganda regarding diphtheria. The reports point out the need for inoculation against this disease.

Since the discovery of an antitoxin for the prevention of diphtheria many lives have been saved. The newspapers have been instrumental in spreading the gospel of this precautionary treatment. Every parent has had the opportunity of being well informed.

Recently in New York City there has been a well-conducted campaign against diphtheria. Every health and social agency has been interested in this campaign.

The struggle against diphtheria is that children are usually the victims. From the age of six months there is danger. The greatest susceptibility is from two to five years.

Statistics prepared by the health department of New York City show that during the year 1918 there were 10,776 cases of diphtheria. Of these 612 died, and practically every one of the victims was a child of school age.

Had proper precautions been taken, practically every one of these lives could have been saved. In addition, the families of the other cases would have avoided this kind of illness.

No parent would deliberately jeopardize any child's health. And yet this is just what happens when you fail to have a child immunized against this dread disease—diphtheria.

There are plenty of diseases in which there is little hope of cure and no prospect of prevention. But we can face this ailment in full assurance of successful battle! There shall be an end of diphtheria.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

ANXIOUS. Q.—My little boy's left eye waters a great deal; sometimes there is pus in the corner. The eyelid and upper part of the cheek is kept red by the constant watering. I have been told by a specialist that the only thing to do is to remove the tear duct. Would the eye be normal in appearance after such operation? What would you advise?

A.—If the tear duct can not be dilated it may be necessary to resort to an operation for the removal of the tear sac. Follow the specialist's judgment in the matter.

O. O. D. Q.—What can be done for burning eyes?

A.—What can be done for oily hair and dandruff? A.—It may be that your eye muscles are not well balanced. A thorough test of the eyes will cover the muscles as well as the sight. An eye wash of warm boracic acid will give temporary relief.

2.—Frequent shampooing and the use of a loile is advisable.—Copyright, 1920, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Prayer.—"Shall not we, Thy sorrow share, and from earthly joys abstain?"

Editorial Opinion.

STILL OBSTRUCTING.

The anti-representationists in the senate took a partisan shot at the victors. They succeeded in amending the census section of the hyphenated bill so as to require the 100,000 or more census supervisors and enumerators to pass civil service examinations. This was the last arrow in their quiver; and they fired it in the forlorn hope of slowing up the progress of the dual measure toward final enactment, which they realize is inevitable. The fact that the house has no mind to accept this provision was well known to the senators who voted for it; but after obstructing reappointment for more than eight years they could not gracefully accept defeat.

The requirement that census supervisors and enumerators be appointed only after they have passed civil service examinations would be a costly and absurd attempt to stretch the merit system far beyond its original purpose. When the civil service commission was unable to get sufficient applicants for prohibition enforcement positions, which are far more lucrative, what chance would it have of inducing 100,000 men to go to the trouble of taking examinations for jobs lasting only three or four weeks? And if it succeeded in getting them to do so, would not the cost to the country far outweigh the advantages that might be expected from the examinations? The Democrats in congress are naturally as reluctant to leave in the hands of their opponents even this petty and relatively innoxious patronage; and for that reason they are willing to put the country to an expense altogether out of proportion to any benefit that could possibly accrue from their proposal.

The amendment should be killed in conference. The house may have to hold the senate in Washington all summer to accomplish this; but the price would be worth paying. When certain dilatory delegates were building up the signing of the declaration of independence, a swarm of flies from a neighboring stable entered the council chamber and so tormented their aulikes that they surrendered. All other discomfords of summer in the national capital failing to melt the frigid morality of the merit reformers, another open window might admit the means of bringing them to reason.—Detroit Free Press.

TOO MUCH WHEAT.

A major fact in the present-day political situation is the unmarketable surplus of some 200,000,000 bushels of wheat in the elevators of this country. We not only have all the wheat that we can possibly use ourselves, but we have that tremendous quantity to spare. If that were all, the problem would be simple. We could sell it abroad. But Argentina and Canada and other wheat growing countries also have vast stocks of wheat that they have no conceivable use for.

This huge surplus, along with the low and still falling price of wheat, is forcing non-debenture men in congress to think seriously of the debenture plan. But the administration is adamant, and quite properly. The debenture plan might do well enough this year, but its permanent effects would be to reduce the agricultural situation of this country to complete chaos.

Senator Nye had a brainstorm which might be of some use. He proposes to buy this surplus of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat for as many dollars and send it to China to feed the starving along the Yangtze.

It may be asked why the Chinese government instead of our own should not pay for this gift to the starving of their country. Nanking recently paid $3,000,000 for a monument to Sun Yat Sen, Oriental George Washington and Thomas Jefferson rolled into one. But China could not be interested. Life is not so valuable in the Orient that $200,000,000 would be spared to save the Chinese from starving and the Austrian farmer from using his last year's radio for another season.

Here indeed is a dilemma. Shall it be the debenture plan, apothecary of economic folly? Or shall it be Chinese relief, a grand gesture of international charity. Perhaps we had best leave it to the senate to decide, and then blame it whatever it does about it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, June 4.
 A mighty forest fire covering hundreds of square miles was raging in Manitoba province, Canada.

A marriage license was issued to Mrs. Eva Fulton and John R. Fulton.

The Star told of the presentation by the graduating class, the day before, of the statue of "Victory" to the Marion High school.

The Star told of an eclipse of the moon, the night before.

Admiral George Dewey presented the diplomas to the 175 young men making up the Annapolis graduating class.

Andrew Whiteham, of Leander street, was severely injured as the result of a fall caused by the breaking of a scaffold in Bucyrus, where he was working on a Pennsylvania water tank.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Landon, of Mount street.

Word was received of the birth of a daughter, May 28, to Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Decker, residing near Richmond.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, June 4.—No section of New York has been so extravagantly publicized lately as the Harlem "Black" belt. It has been chopped up in a half dozen plays and as many novels. Cabaret resorts attract hordes of downtown slummers and Strivers row is the scene of studio soirees attended by whites.

Harlem in recent years has given the stage Florence Mills, Bill Robinson, Adelaide Hall and others and sent Josephine Baker, a dusky singer, to triumph in Paris and Paul Robeson in London. Jules Hledsoe and Roland Hayes have become singularly conspicuous in singing roles.

Two currently successful plays and three big selling novels were authored by negroes. From such surface indications, the negro would appear to have attained a striking stage of artistic development, yet those who know say the majority in Harlem face economic disaster.

Judging from the colorful show on Leuxor avenue, the district has never before displayed such fine feathers. The gaudy sheiks and flashily-dressed brown skins are promiscuous in every block. But these it would seem are representative of only a favored few. Many doors have closed to colored workers.

Except on Pullman trains, there are few places for the colored maid, and the colored nurse has a similar struggle. Hair dressing and manicure parlors, once an occupational high spot, are now using only white girls, chiefly Scandinavians. Wash-room attendants are also mostly white.

Most hotels long ago discarded the colored waiter in favor of foreign importations. This also applies to chefs. And there are only a handful of colored valets and butlers, and just a straggling few footmen, coachmen, yardmen and chauffeurs.

First-class apartment-houses are no longer employing colored elevator operators, and apartment-houses that do employ chiefly the West Indian negroes, who are far from popular in Harlem. Posts of doormen and building superintendents are also seldom held by colored folk.

Fortunate gentlemen who slip off to Bar Harbor and other natty nooks over week ends for golfing in the sunshine and canoeing in the moonlight usually land at Grand Central Monday morning. To the red caps they are "gliders"—a colloquialism for gliding the palm. They are reputed the most extravagant of all tipsters.

The bright young collegiates who edit college fuelitons have not done badly of late in New York journalism. Four mislaid responsible editorial posts at salaries of more than $10,000 a year. On college journals they acquire a knowledge of make-up and other printing technicalities it often takes years to master on the paying job.

Smart hair-dressing and beauty parlors now ask patrons to make engagements at least a week in advance. In spite of 300 new salons opening in the metropolitan district last year, the business has grown out of bound. Hair-dressers on lines in port are able to work full time. The big factor in the increase of trade is the demand for beauty treatments. Women who used to have "facials" once a week often make a daily visit. And so far as one can notice homely women remain homely.

Upper Broadway is acquiring all the chop suey, dance hall, vaudeville and raucous glitter of the lower strip and is to have two legitimate theaters above Seventy-second street playing first class attractions.

There is no optimism like that of the man with thinning hair for the barber's newest restorer. Only this morning I hurried home from a barber shop, during the new growth would push off my hat along the sidewalk.

And it just percolated while waiting that the barber who again raised such high hopes had a head suggesting a peeled onion.

Mr. Whalen's traffic plan may be the billiards. Everybody slings its praise. But it took me exactly forty-two minutes by clock to travel from Forty-sixth and Madison avenue to the night, so Mr. Whalen may have his idea—with love and kisses.—Copyright, 1929, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Real Jefferson.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICE.

A great deal has been written about "the real Jefferson," but it is doubtful if many of his countrymen even now comprehend what the real "real Jefferson" was. Everybody knows that he was twice president of the United States, and that he wrote the American Declaration of Independence, a document that has "rung through the world." But not less important as an expression of his mind is his "Notes on Virginia," a politician and a national ruler; he was a student of nature—human nature and the nature of the world we live in. He was an amateur follower of the science of his day. He did as much to introduce and foster scientific advance in America as to make Old world social and political theories produce results suited for a new world on this side of the ocean.

Immense and continuous as were his political and administrative labors through his long life, at the same time, he did as much to put America forward in the scientific world, and to unfold her greatness as a new geographical unit, conscious of its powers and possibilities and prepared to claim, to maintain, and to develop them under its own flag and on its own means.

Nothing of the qualities that nature had given to this country escaped him. He became personally familiar with its extent, its topography, its relations and communications, its rivers, lakes, mountains, cultivable regions, forests, productions, its animals, its plants and its human tribes. He had the knowledge of a pioneer concerning many of these things. His intuition taught him that our national borders should be the oceans only, when thousands of timid, near-sighted people could not see beyond the Alleghenies and the Ohio. The great exploring expeditions of Clark and Lewis and Pike, which opened up the vast West with all its hidden riches, were essentially expressions of the far-seeing mind of Jefferson, shaping in imagination the mighty empire of a republic that would dwarf history. But for him, the Great Northwest might float the British flag, the Mississippi might be a Rhine, while alien constellations might shine upon the Pacific!

I like the title that Professor H. F. Osborn has lately given to Thomas Jefferson in calling him "The Pioneer of America Paleontology." Jefferson was one of the first to study the remains of the American mastodon and of the megalothrix—the "Great Claw," as he called it—which was found in a Virginia cavern. It is a remarkable indication of the catholicity of his mind that Jefferson dwelt as much upon the possibilities of scientific discoveries in the unexplored western regions as upon their political importance for rounding out and giving a solid structure to the territorial foundations of the republic. With what eagerness and ability did he seize upon the opportunity offered by Napoleon for this country to unite to itself Louisiana and the mouth of the Mississippi!

The simpler story of Jefferson's fondness for studying the creatures and the laws of nature, his mechanical ingenuity, his experiments in agriculture and gardening, his little inventions for the farm, the household and his personal use, adds immensely to the charm of his life, while his foundation and development of the University of Virginia and the pride that he took in it, place him among those rare characters whose lives should be written by a Plutarch or a Cornelius Nepos.—Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

A letter published in London in 1727 says: "Street robberies were never known to be greater than they are at present." We think of the crime wave as a modern institution.

Travelers tell us that sometimes the wife of an African tribesman goes on strike. The refuse to feed him until he "comes to time" or accedes to some request or other. After all, monogamy has its distinctly good points. It provides a domestic situation which, if not always easy to handle, is at least considerably simplified.

Compared with Great Britain the United States hardly knows what national responsibility is. While the white population of the British empire is 60,000,000, the number of its native race subjects is 400,000,000. There can be no heavier national burden than the responsibility of governing millions of men and women of other races, other habits and other ideals.

The editor of a well-known western paper not long ago gave an address, repeated in moviehouse theaters, on the subject of "Dunking." Folks who dip their doughnuts in the coffee are dunkers. But dunking has a long and not dishonorable history. It goes back into the far reaches of tradition. Our good old-fashioned word "supper" was derived from the practice of sopping bread in gravy.

Blueberries seven-eighths of an inch in diameter having been grown in New Jersey, the Jersey mosquito tradition must give way to the blueberry tradition.

Katherine Mayo, who wrote the smash-hit book called "Mother India," has been criticized because it is said she presents both sides of the picture of that land. But she undoubtedly performed a great service for a benighted country in bringing it anew to the attention of a supposedly civilized world. At any rate there is something wrong with 275 countries in which there are two and a half million married women under ten years of age.

Much interest in balloon racing. But balloons are not at all new. In 1547 "Le Geant" was the name of a balloon which had a bag of 450,000 cubic feet. It was capable of lifting forty passengers.

"Nevertheless, we shall have to correct him. We can't rub him out."

Mrs. Newlywed—"I wish to open an account here."

Bank Teller—"Yes, madam. How much do you wish to deposit?"

WINS CONTEST

"Question Mark" First in Junior High Spelling Competition

By the distance of one mile the Question Mark won the round the world spelling flight held at Central Junior High school Friday yesterday. The airplane made a distance of 24 1/4 mile with the "Soaring Eagle" second with 24 1/2 miles. Both planes are from classes of Cecil Gabler. The entire distance to be covered in the race was 100 miles, which could have been accomplished only if one room had a total average of 100 percent each day. Third place in the race was won by Speed Demon from Isabelle Stump's room.

Words for the contest were taken from a list of misspelled words in ninth grade English compositions. A remarkable feature of the test was that eighth grade pupils spelled the words better than the ninth grade pupils and that the same condition was true in the seventh and eighth grades with the seventh grade leading in many cases.

SWITCH to Sohio Ethyl gasoline and stop "pump hunting" every time you run out of gasoline outside your own neighborhood! Three tables were filled for bridge, high honors going to Mrs. Paul Reid, and the consolation award to Mrs. Herman Hebler. The table cards held small sachets as bridge favors. The table appointments and decorations throughout the rooms were in orchid and green, Miss Ewing's wedding colors. Rose favors held the wedding announcement concealed in the petals. Fashion's Forecast

By Annabel Worthington

THE STYLE No 2541 reveals new fluttering fullness in shirred flounces stitched to front of skirt to effect hip yoke with dip at center-front, which at same time dips the hem. It's sportive in blue silk crepe printed in various shades of blue, and white in novelty dot pattern, and so appropriate to wear with coat to complete ensemble, and later can be worn for resort. The Vionnet neckline is piped in blue grosgrain ribbon which appears in bows. It's easily made, and so practical. Printed dimity, printed rayon voile, crepe de chine, georgette crepe and printed rajah other chic ideas.

NEW LOVELINESS

THE PATTERN is offered at cost price 15 cents (stamps or coin) as a service to readers who sew and is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It includes a Picture Chart that does the thinking for you, for it illustrates the whole making of a garment in Pictures.

SALVATION ARMY OPENS CAMPAIGN

Bucyrus Group Will Make Drive for $2,400 To Carry on Work

BUCYRUS, June 4—Following a dinner at St. Paul's Lutheran church last night the Salvation army drive for $2,400 for current expenses for the ensuing year to be held throughout this week, was opened. H. E. Cook is acting chairman of the men's division during the drive and Mrs. E. J. Myers will head the ladies division. For its annual expenses the Salvation army needs, according to a report submitted by Captain H. J. Steinhilber, a total of $3,515 of which $2,400 must be from home service or public support. The estimated income aside from that amount is given as: collections $838, magazines $250, Christmas letters $299 and Young People collections $125.

CABIN BUILT IN 1804

STILL IN GOOD REPAIR

SUGAR VALLEY, Pa.—A log cabin that was built in 1804 was recently purchased by Colonel Henry W. Shoemaker, member of the State Forest Commission, and is now a garden house at his home near here. The cabin was in an excellent state of repair despite its 125 years of withstanding the elements and was moved on horse-drawn sleds 12 miles to the colonel's home.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

Talkies Bring Voice Control to Motion Picture Front

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—The movie magic, make-up and wig, have taken a new member into the film. The old partnership was all right for the silent film, but they couldn't handle the talkie situation by themselves.

The new partner isn't old enough yet to have a game of his own, but he has to do with the ability of the talkie to change the character roles.

Louise Fazenda is an exponent of the new art. Louise can change her voice just as easily as she can her make-up. She can voice the freedom of a flapper or the provincialism of an old maid; she can be scolding or seductive, a virtuoso or a vamp, and she can laugh softly and discreetly, like a princess, or giggle like a schoolgirl.

Many a double who used to earn a precarious livelihood by swimming raging torrents, jumping from precipice to precipice, falling off racing horses, and the like, now stands in the corner out of sight of the camera and sings seductively, or sings love songs, for his or her famous counterpart.

Louise never has had a double, and declares she never will. Certainly, her friends say, she won't have to get one for her voice; she is as accomplished as a mocking bird already.

FRED DALLIG, casting director out at Paramount, is having a time of it finding his chorus of 150-pound girls for the picture "Burlesque," the screen version of the play.

Fred has had to do all but batter in the doors of private homes in Southern California and steal his way through their husbands, or children, or dinner tables—whatever they may be attached to—and drive them into his elaborate stage settings for the "best-trust" chorus act. Remember that they must weigh over 150 pounds, and you will see Fred was faced with no light workout.

It is not that women of 150 pounds are so rare, Dallig confides to International News Service, but most of them become incomprehensibly touchy about the suggestion that they don't.

That Fellow Who Bumps Against Your Lighted Window--Yeh, the June Bug

He's Had Three Long Years of Groping for Few Weeks of Light

BY PROF. ALLEN C. CONGER
(Department of Zoology, Ohio Wesleyan University)

JUNE--and the brown-backed fellow who is thumping so persistently at the screen of my lighted window must therefore be a June-bug. Scientists are insistent upon accuracy; call him the May beetle. It must be admitted that he is a beetle rather than a bug but surely months mean but little when weather shows such vagaries as in the present season.

As dusk falls the May beetles come up from the grass of lawns and fields mostly to feed upon the foliage of trees but many there are who are lured by lights to spend in altogether fruitless evening always bumping and falling to lie with a little groping but until preference they do not themselves the last of still clinging to a noxious at the window pane. I rarely no have a man who is not this common beetle. I tell the truth he should be more at home in a round for he is a minor of a very years experience.

This June-bug, however, fellow at my window has hatched from an egg laid in the month of May in the late spring of 1928. After a few weeks of development in the egg a tiny soft white grub emerged to begin a life of tunnelling and feeding upon the roots of plants. All summer long it fed and grew and with the approach of cold it burrowed deeper and became dormant. It is of 1927 make and it is to act in a similar manner of feeding and growing followed by a winter of hibernation and the renewal of activity with the fall of spring.

Change Occurs

Just a year ago a remarkable event took place. By June the big soft-bodied grub had reached its full development. Its body was white in color and its two hind legs were provided with powerful jaws. Nature had as yet given it no eyes to this dweller in the soil. Now it is a true grub and there followed that metamorphosis which we call pupation. By July the pupa stage was ended and we had not a pale soft blind, wingless grub but a colored hard-shelled beetle with eyes and wings. There still was a long term to serve underground for not until this spring did this beetle make its way to the surface. Now with his fellows he waits the coming of dusk and with the dark he sails aloft on these new found wings.

The three-year cycle results in marked annual fluctuation in numbers of May beetles. This year should bring them in large numbers and it may be of interest to make personal observations checking the accuracy of the prediction.

Recalling the Locust

What an existence--three long years of blind groping and then a few short weeks of light and air. Yet such an exile seems short when compared with the underground life of an insect which is more remote than reality to many of us. We have all heard of the 17 year locusts and perhaps know by sight and sound their more common cousins the common Cicadas whose loud buzzing rasps our ears in late summer.

In some way the life cycles have slipped a cog here and there so that we have in the northern states 17 times that broods one appearing each year. Some of these annual broods are in significant, while others are widespread and abundant. Brood 2, perhaps the largest, appeared last in 1919. This was not the celebrated war brood with the mysterious W on their wings, but unfortunately for the superstition all the same bore this strange designation and so another fine fanciful tale is ended.

Emerges in Spring

The adult Cicadas emerge from the ground in late spring and leave their molting skins on the trunks of trees. After mating the females lay their eggs in the punctured bark of the trunks of shrubs and trees, especially oaks, hickories and apples. Nearly two months later the young emerge from the eggs and drop to the ground into which they burrow. They finally attach themselves by a sucking beak to the roots of a tree and settle down for a long stay. These tiny young Cicadas who thus start life in 1910 have spent a 10 year term in their underground dungeons. Seven years more must be served and then on some early summer day in 1929 they will crawl up into the open air shed their last earthly skin and try their wings in flight.

Why Nature exacted so heavily from these perennial Cicadas no one can explain. They are in no way more highly developed than their common cousins of late summer whose life cycle stretches over only two years. It is only another of those weird illustrations which make the wonders of creation from Mother Nature such an intriguing and oftentimes baffling, yet golden.

RUMORS HAVE LINDY, ANNE IN 3 PLACES

Hundreds of Automobiles Along Banks of Cape Cod Canal Await Couple

BOUQUET Mass June 4--If the famous Lindy and Anne are here, they have been in Long Island Sound waters in their new motor yacht Mouette and if they are bound up the Atlantic seaboard as reported from New London, Conn. a tremendous ovation awaits them at Cape Cod canal.

Because of rough weather off the Cape the Mouette in a northward voyage would pass through the canal. Through most of the night hundreds of automobiles lined the banks of the waterway from Buzzards Bay to Sandwich. All planned to accompany the long-moored by the playing of head lights and flashlights and the honking of automobile horns.

Captain C. B. Smith, superintendent of the canal, declared that a yacht described as that of Lindy and Anne had not been sighted during the past few days up to early forenoon today. An exhaustive search all along the New England seaboard from Long Island, N. Y., to Newport, Me. failed to reveal a single clue since the two were reported on Saturday afternoon to be calling in the radio at Block Island for gasoline and water. Subsequently, however, they had been placed eating a dinner in New York City on Saturday noon and had been at Norfolk, Conn. for two days up to Sunday. This complete upset the

BUCKLEY'S FATE TO BE KNOWN THURSDAY

Federal Court Hearing on District Attorney's Motion Scheduled

CINCINNATI June 4—The fate of B. Buckley, ex-state treasurer, in the balance of the law will be decided at a federal court hearing here Thursday.

Buckley began serving immediate term of six months in the Ohio penitentiary on June 1 following conviction in federal court at Cincinnati on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the beer brewers' bribery case and has lost his right to appeal to the higher federal courts.

Those are the two crucial questions to be tried Thursday and a decision is expected.

FAVORITES WIN OPENING RACE EVENTS

MYRTLE BAXTER IS WINNER IN FEATURE

Cold Weather Cuts Crowd at Initial Card of Five-Day Harness Meeting Here; Miss Brad Cops Claiming Pace

BY KARL R. McELROY,
Sports Editor, The Star

WITH a cold wind sweeping across the track, Marion inaugurated its 1929 Short Ship harness racing season at the fairgrounds Monday afternoon and the favorites had a great day of it winning every race on the three-event card.

Although the weather did not in the least detract from the racing, it held the crowd down to the smallest that has witnessed the opening in several years. It was ladies' day but only a few braved the cold wind to watch the horses perform. Topsores were in evidence everywhere and the were not scarce.

If the weather man sticks to his word, today's races will start under better conditions. Predictions yesterday said higher temperatures were due here today. Three events will be run off today opening with the 2:22.15 claiming trot and followed by the 2:18 pace and 2:10 trot.

Myrtle Baxter Steps Out
The best performance of the opening day was clocked in the first heat of the 2:12 pace when Myrtle Baxter with Vail up made the mile in 1:20.04. She took the second heat easily to win the race.

In the final heat, Dean Williams, driven by Mallory, finished first at the placing second in the first two starts. The final mile was timed at 2:20. The slow time resulted from only three horses taking part in the last heat, the drivers being satisfied to jog around the first three-quarters before opening up.

McBride won the first event, the classified trot, in straight heats with his owner, Dr. Braden, driving. The best time was clocked up in the opening heat when the mile was made in 2:17.4. Two horses were distanced in the first heat when three of the trotters broke at the first turn. Trenton made a good showing in the first heat by driving up from third position to challenge the winner on the stretch. Trenton, after finishing second in the first two heats, took first in the closing trip around the oval.

Miss Brad Cops Winner
Miss Brad, out of the Couse stable with Schleber up, won the 2:22.15 claiming pace without a great deal of trouble. She was compelled to do some fast stopping in the second heat when she pulled in from third position to head Friero Star.

The boys received quite a surprise in the third heat of this event when Fawcett, a two to one shot, finished out in front over the favorite, Friero Star. Kaeland, driven by Hunter, finished fourth and third in the initial heats. Friero Star was second in the first two heats.

Real Estate Than All Combined
WOOD
The track at Marion county fairgrounds was in great shape for racing yesterday. It was plenty fast and very dry, requiring constant action on the part of the water wagon in keeping the dust settled.

One thing was missing at the race. That was the cry of "ice cold pop" and "ice cream cones." It was too cold for the cool refreshments. The concession stand reported quite a run on coffee, hot dogs and hamburgers.

Wednesday and Thursday will be the big days of the Short Ship meeting here. Four events are scheduled for each day. Officials of the meet are expecting capacity crowds on both these days.

Horses will race out of the paddock today. Monday the old style of racing was in vogue with the drivers being called from the stables.

Washington Club Owner Goes South To Buy Team
WASHINGTON, June 4—Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, was reported enroute to Atlanta today to negotiate for the purchase of the Atlanta Southern league club.

The deal has been rumored intermittently for months, but it is said Griffith has never been willing to meet the price fixed by the Atlanta owners.

THESE HAVANA RED SOX APPEAR HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Those are pictured members of the Havana Red Sox, a baseball aggregation composed of Cuban players who will display their "diamond talent" at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon against the local Yankees.

Since the Havana club opened at Miami early this year, they have been playing daily in every state of the south, east of Mississippi. It has gradually worked its way north, playing games through Florida, Georgia, Ala-hama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky, southern points of Indiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and New Jersey, and the local appearance will be one of the few in this section.

FLAND HURLER ANKS WHITE SOX YANKEES WIN
The Yankees won the first game of the series, 13-11, in a 13-inning tilt.

Yankees Take Third Game from Cubs
The Yankees won the third game of the series, 13-11, in a 13-inning tilt.

Escaped from the minors by the Yankees, Ed Wells, veteran souther of Ashland, Ohio, today enjoys a new lease on life. Manager Hughson has been nursing Donnan, Eddie, along with the former Detroit hurler might negotiate a comeback. He found it yesterday against the Chicago White Sox, Wells shutting out the pale hoos with two hits.

Following impressive performance by Hoyt and Pignas, Eddie's work has given the organized champions new life in their effort to catch up with the flying Athletics. Only 20 batters faced him and the game was played in the remarkably short time of an hour and 20 minutes, believed to be a record for the Yankees.

Robertson Hits 3 Doubles
Gene Robertson, suiting for Koussis, eluded three doubles off Lyons, the first one sending in the only tally of the game. It was New York's third straight victory over the Sox.

George Uhle's winning streak of nine victories was snapped in a 13-inning duel with Lefty Grove, ace of the Athletics. After lifting the bases by issuing two intentional passes, the Detroit hurler was unable to get the hall over the plate for Bishop and forced in the run, the A's winning 3 to 2, for their sixth straight triumph.

Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh veteran, took up the good work where Uhle left off by beating the Phillies 14 to 2, for his ninth straight win. The Bucs, suiting under two straight defeats by the slowdown outfit, faced Sweetland and Roy for 15 hits, totaling 27 bases.

The Phillies pulled a triple play in the fourth when Grimes lined to Thompson with two on base. The Cardinals maintained their lead of a game and a half over the Pirates by taking a ding-dong contest from Brooklyn, 9 to 8. The score was tied five times during the afternoon.

Giants in Fourth Place
The Giants' 8-1 victory over the Cubs provided a work of statistics. It was New York's eleventh win out of their last 12 starts, their fifth consecutive victory and their third straight over the Cubs, from whom they won only two games last year at Chicago.

"No-hit" Hubbell had so much stuff that the three New York outfielders did not make a single out or assist.

If the Giants win again today, they will take third place away from the Cubs. Yesterday's triumph put them back in the first division, Phillies dropping to fifth place.

Sam Gray pitched the Browns to a 6 to 1 victory over Washington, and Cincinnati outslugged the Boston Braves, 12 to 3. The Cleveland Indians ran into a June snowstorm in Boston.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS
At Philadelphia—George Godfrey, negro heavyweight of Liverpool, Pa., stopped Jimmy Byrne, of Louisville, Ky. (7).

At Boston—Gorilla Jones, negro welterweight of Akron, Ohio, scored technical knockout over Al Mello, of Lowell, Mass. (10).

At New York—"One Punch" Leo Williams, New York negro heavyweight, stopped Harry Fay, of Louisville, Ky. (15).

At Tulsa, Okla.—Babe Hunt, Oklahoma heavyweight, drew with Murray Giltz, of New Haven, Conn. (10).

At Pittsburgh—Jack McVey, New York negro middleweight, outpointed Osk Tilt, of Rochester, N. Y. (10).

Harry Williams, Cincinnati negro, stopped Stanley Simmons, of Pittsburgh.

At Holyoke, Mass.—Andy Callahan, of Lawrence, Mass., outpointed Chicky Clark, of Holyoke. (10).

ENGLISH DERBY AT EPSOM DOWNS TO BE RUN OFF WEDNESDAY

$15,000,000 Placed as Conservative Estimate on English Race

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, June 4—In the next 24 hours, the world and its subdivisions will be regaled with the news that Joe Dokes, the well known plumber, intends to spend a year or so traveling for his health; that Miss Rufus McGuffey, wife of the popular assistant foreman in the street cleaning department, has decided against a season at Deurille owing to vulgar contacts to which one is subjected by a lot of millionaires; and that Miss Jennie Ellice has ceased her chamber-maiding because her mind seeks the bigger and finer things of life.

These announcements will follow in the wake of the one hundred and fiftieth renewal tomorrow of the English derby at Epsom Downs, the oldest exposition extant of the so-called sport of kings. The derby actually isn't a sport at all. It is the most colossal gamble in the history of all the world, a universal speculation in comparison with which Monte Carlo and its nightly gambling becomes just a newsworthy dice game.

Conservative estimates today place $15,000,000 as the amount of money that has been invested in the Calcutta and London stock exchange sweepstakes, with possibly $5,000,000 more placed in the hands of those who operate the lesser London lotteries.

Many Americans have gone for this blind stab in the dark that either loses you your nominal ante or makes you rich between the rising of one sun and the setting of another.

Unofficial figures declare that about $25,000,000 in prize money will be distributed to holders of winning tickets in each of the big lotteries. Many of those who drew likely winners already have sold out for a fortune, there being the story about the disposal of a tenth interest in Microsoft, Astor's Grandsons, the public favorite, for $100,000. This is excellent money, even if the alleged seller never got it.

The alleged buyer, too, probably "piced" out some of that 10 per cent wherever he figured he could do himself some good, so that by the time the grandsons go to the post you probably wouldn't be able to get all of his "paper proprietors" into the waiting room at Charging Cross station. Kopti, ruling second choice in the English books, has undergone something of the same buying and selling campaign, as have Lord Derby's Rosworth, Lord Dewar's Aristotle, Aga Khan's Le Voleur and other entries that are more or less esteemed among the 32 eligibles remaining.

Games Tomorrow
National—Brooklyn at Chicago; Philadelphia at Cincinnati; Boston at Philadelphia; New York at St. Louis.

American—Chicago at Boston; Cleveland at New York; St. Louis at Philadelphia; Detroit at Washington.

Association—Toledo at Indianapolis; St. Paul at Kansas City; Columbus at Louisville; Minneapolis at Milwaukee.

Women Will Control House in 25 Years, Is Prediction of Ruth Hanna M'Cormick

Keenly Alive to Their Political Responsibilities, She Declares

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Feminine control of the house in 25 years! American women, keenly alive to their political responsibilities and vitally interested in their government, will move steadily forward in the arena of public affairs and in 25 years will either have more than 50 per cent of the membership of the house of representatives—or very close to it—Mrs. Ruth Hanna M'Cormick, Republican congresswoman from Illinois, predicted today.

They then would be in position to control the purse strings of the nation and dictate its legislative course.

This prediction comes just after the British elections in which candidates for parliament scored tremendous gains, and the commencement of a fight in Pennsylvania to elect Mrs. John J. Casey, to her late husband's seat in the house.

MRS. MCCORMICK

her, in which their participation has been welcomed.

"It is only a few years since women were given the ballot and first appeared extensively in public life. Each year sees further progress made. The first woman member of the house broke a great barrier.

"In my own state there has been a noticeable change. The leaders of my own party now seek our advice in the party councils and they are very anxious that appointments meet with the approval of the women because they are learning to value their judgment.

Illinois Congresswoman at Large More Optimistic Than Mrs. Kahn

"Women are very well adapted to politics and public life. They are conscientious and they are aggressive. Through the women's organization they are learning to become ready debaters and acquire mastery of the art of terse presentation of public questions.

"I do not believe in considering sex differences in politics. Women should and must seek preferment and discharge the duties of public office as representatives of all."

Mrs. M'Cormick declines to agree with the frequent prediction that women's lack of knowledge of finance handicaps her in a government which deals in millions and billions. Women handle the purse strings of the house and know the value of money, she says.

Women Smokers Blamed for Increase of Fires

BATON ROUGE, La.—Women smokers confining their cigarettes to the boudoir was partly blamed for the increase of fires during the past year by T. Alfred Fleming of the national board of fire underwriters, addressing the Louisiana Insurance Society here.

"Many women who do not smoke in public do smoke in the privacy of their bedrooms," Fleming asserted. "Such flimsily appointed rooms are no place to be careless with lighted cigarettes or matches."

MRS. MCCORMICK, who is the only member of the house "feminine-bloc" to represent an entire state—she being a congresswoman at large—is more enthusiastic than other congresswomen over women's future. She is more optimistic than Mrs. Florence Kahn, California congresswoman, who believes that the present "feminine bloc" of eight will not exceed 25 in the next 10 or 20 years.

"I fully believe that more than 50 per cent—or very close to it—of the members of the house 25 years from now will be women," said Mrs. M'Cormick.

Gentleman and Get Away with "Murder," Is Urge

BOSTON, June 4.—"Be a snob. You will find it just as easy to marry the boss' daughter as the stenographer."

Prof. Robert Emerson Rogers of the English and history department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, discovered today that he started something when he gave this advice to Tech seniors at the class banquet on Saturday night.

"Dress, speak and act like a gentleman and you will be surprised at the amount of murder you can get away with," said the professor of Morris H. Fenwick, noted Philadelphia artist. "Never buy a suit of clothes unless you can get an extra pair of trousers. Keep one suit pressed every week. Never buy shoes unless you buy shoe trees with them. Keep them shined, shine yourself and never wear the same collar at night which you wear all day. He urged college men to be virtuous—to be members of the ruling class."

But even while his advice was being passed today Professor Rogers was explaining that he was using the word snob in the letter or unusual sense. He was explaining that he found the college men of this generation "acting pretty low standards."

He said they have a good time, get by with as little work as possible, offend themselves, and appreciate any difference between a man who has had education and the man who has not.

He pointed out that President Coolidge of Smith had said that after 10 or 15 years a college bred man was not distinguishable from the other man in manner, speech or in the appearance of general intelligence.

NOW Rosalie is a full fledged swimmer, and can direct her thoughts more on what to wear instead of where to land (and how). We shall probably see more of her availing costumes. Here she is all decked out in a really feminine flying suit. The full trousers are gathered at the knee and ankle by light-fitting bands, and the apron effect about the hips and the flaring face framing collar add to the femininity of this flying habit. For finishing touches we have the wing design on both helmet and jacket, gray piping, and a metal pull fastener. Oh, yes the color—bottle green, of course.

REGISTRATION OPENS FOR COMING YEAR

High School Pupils Start on Choice of Courses of Study

Monday opened registration for pupils who will enter the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth years of school next year. This year registration has been simplified from six to four courses. No time was dropped, but the system is more simple as it goes into the hands of the pupil for preparation for their courses in high school.

Eleventh years pupils who are called upon to select their work from ninth grade, will have the four courses from which to choose. A large majority of these registrations will be completed early this week.

In past years there have been classical, scientific, normal, commercial, vocational and general courses over which the child and parent must study before finally deciding just what course will be most suitable. This week, the pupils and their parents and teachers are discussing schedules for next year from college preparatory, general, commercial and vocational courses.

Courses Complete

Many pupils today are definitely decided on a Commercial course and a course to meet this demand is fully outlined on the schedule sheet given each student and parent. Boys who desire vocational work will find a complete course of study mapped out for them. These two courses have not been revamped.

The general course which may be planned so that it will provide college entrance requirements has been left alone in the new schedule.

The college preparatory course is made up of the normal classical and scientific courses and is the biggest change in the entire registration outline.

These changes have come about in the office of George A. Bowman, superintendent of schools.

A student who has successfully completed a course of study at Harding High School can enter any college in the United States that admits without examination. The local high school is one of the approved list of the North Central Ohio college and secondary schools. He must, however, have any high school can look forward.

TEJERO of Barcelona

Beauty Advisor by Appointment to 3 Reigning Queens advises daily use of Palmolive Soap

Spanish beauties have long known the cosmetic value of olive oil. Scientifically blended with palm oil, it has its greatest beauty effect in Palmolive Soap.

"Regular cleansing twice a day with Palmolive Soap is my advice to my clients. The effect of the pure palm and olive oils in this soap keeps the skin always in the proper condition."

José Tejero
BARCELONA

IN SPAIN, the country of olive skinned beauty. I care of the skin is entrusted to men who are not only beauty specialists but dermatologists as well. Of these, one of the highest in rank is Tejero, of Barcelona.

A skin specialist of renown, Tejero studied at the faculty of medicine at Zaragoza. He holds a surgeon's diploma and has practiced his profession in Paris and London—in Berlin and Brussels—in Vienna, Budapest and Prague.

Tejero's distinguished clientele

In Paris he was privileged to attend the Queen of Holland and her daughter. In Belgium he served Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth. He has, of course, attended the Queen of his native Spain... and his many distinguished patrons include not only ladies-in-waiting from all the Courts of Europe and the Castilian aristocracy, but numerous celebrated artists of the stage and musical world.

Senor Tejero always prescribes Palmolive for home treatment and attributes much of his success to the fact that his clients follow his advice.

"No skin can remain healthy for long unless it is thoroughly cleansed twice a day with soap and water," says this famous Spanish authority. "The effect of the pure palm and olive oils in Palmolive Soap is to penetrate gently but deep down into the pores... and to soothe and rejuvenate the tissues."

Other international authorities who prefer Palmolive and stress the value of its olive oil content include Cavaleri, of Paris; Jacobson, of London; Anillo of Rome—and hundreds of the leading beauty artists of the world. Act upon their advice this very evening. A radiant complexion will be your reward.

Maid of Paris recommends, as do the great beauty culturists of Europe and America, this daily "facelift" dressing—the massage with rich, warm Palmolive lather for two minutes, followed by warm, steamy hot water.
